Frost This Week Does Little Harm In Glades Area

Glades vegetable growers breathed easier on Tuesday night as the cold snap of Sunday and Monday skipped on by, leaving only negligible damage in its wake, and the frost that had threatened to be a major disaster Monday, when people were buttoning up their overcoats, blowing on their fingers, and hunting for a while away into misadventure compared with the sweat and tears of the freezed Dec. 15-16, which wiped out most of the beans in the area.

Pythias Lodge To Be Formed

Confident that they can secure sufficient names to establish a Glades area lodge of the Knights of Pythias, an organization devoted to "charity and fellowship," James W. Hicks, grand lodge representative for the West Palm Beach Lodge, and J. O. Michaels, both of Belle Glade, are circulating a petition for a warrant for a charter.

According to Mr. Hicks, the Grand Radiator Shop here, 12 signatures have already been obtained on the petition; at least another 15 are needed; and more are wanted.

Mr. Hicks asks all former members of the Knights of Pythias and other interested people, to get in touch with him, or with Mr. Michaels, Belle Glade, to obtain their support to the growing list of charter members for a Glades Lodge to include Belle Glade, Pahokee, South Bay, and Clewiston.

Listing some of the charitable work of the Knights, Mr. Hicks referred to benefits for cerebral palsy cases, and donations to the Children's Variety Hospital, Miami.

He said that simultaneously with the organization of the Glades Lodge here, a Pythian Sister Auxiliary will be formed.

Local Students At Music Clinic

Ten music students, one band student, two teachers and three chaperones left Belle Glade yesterday afternoon for Tampa where they are attending the All-State Music Educators Association Convention and Clinic.

The Glades club students took their voices, and the one band student, claiming they left for this all-important music clinic. The eleven represented the "cream of the crop" of music students who competed with others in auditions at Miami on Dec. 11 and Jan. 6, for the honor of attending the Tampa show.

The Miami try-outs determined which representatives would be selected for the All-State Senior Chorus, the All-State Band and All-State Orchestra.

According to Miss Marian Najarian, music instructor at the local school, and Alan Drake, Belle Glade High bandmaster, the students will participate in rehearsals all day Friday and Saturday, and on Sunday.

Original Townsite Of Okeelanta Included In Lawrence Will Sale

In warranty deeds filed last week in circuit court, Lawrence C. Will, Belle Glade Fire Chief and filling station proprietor, completed the sale of two lots of land at Okeelanta, including one parcel that was the original townsite of Okeelanta, where Will settled in 1913.

In a transaction completed last Saturday, Lawrence Will sold for $75,000, then deed, to Ann F. Will sold Arthur P. Crow two tracts of land. One of the tracts, which the Will sold for $75,000, was then deed, by Crow and Nancy M. Crow to the South Bay Land Company for $76,000.

This parcel was described as all of the east half of Section 27, Township 44 South, Range 36 East, and comprised 320 acres.

The other parcel of land, the original Okeelanta townsite, was sold by the Wills for $86,000.

All the land involved in the title change once belonged to Mr. Will's father, and on one occasion, was lost for taxes, and had to be bought back, Mr. Will said.

Mr. Will, a pioneer settler at Okeelanta, lived there from 1913 to 1929. According to him, the name "Okeelanta" is not, as many think, an Indian name, but is a composite proposed by early Okeelanta settlers, to combine the words "Okeelanta" and "Santa" (Continued on Page 3)

At the first meeting of the reorganized County School Board Tuesday this week, Henry O. Earwood, of Belle Glade, newly elected member, was seated. Following the seating of Earwood, the Board, re-elected George Slaton as chairman, chose Mrs. Elizabeth Hand, Delray, as vice chairman, reappointed Edgar Workman as architect, and C. D. Blackwell as attorney.

According to Mr. Earwood, action on appointing two new trustees was postponed until the next meeting. The trustees vacancies were occupied by the resignation of Mr. Earwood to accept the school board post, and of Roy E. Michael, Jr., Lake Wales, who resigned.

Contracts Not Cancelled Glades Bridges Delayed

Chairman Tells Morrow

A wholesale slashing of contracts negotiated by Fuller Warren's Road Department in its last days, by the McCarty new room created a panic in Palm Beach County until assurances by the Road Board of "velly sorry—but mistakes" found their way to bewildered "Dan's The Man" boosters Thursday.

In sweeping Fuller's "big accomplishments" out to make way for the McCarty program Palm Beach County's two Glades bridges were returned to the only home they have ever enjoyed—one of the things to look forward to.

A Palm Beach paper carried the story that the contractors will go ahead and build the bridges and wait on the Department's empty pocketbook to be refilled. Thanks Cleary brothers for the kind gesture towards your lovely county.

One of the surprises of the game came Thursday morning when The Herald began to report night o'clock trying to find out about this apparent forgetfulness on the part of the present administration. None of Dan's boys in the County knew anything about it, nor the whys. It's all settled, clear, and the right signals—the plow boys in the great open spaces didn't know what the play was.

South Bay Store Robbed Of $1,150

Last Saturday night thieves broke into the H. C. Willis & Sons country store, in South Bay, and robbed it of $1,150 in cash.

According to Chief of Police R. C. White, who investigated the burglary, the robbers apparently gained access to the store by breaking the lock of a lean-to in the rear, where empty drink bottles were stored. From there, they sawed an iron bar in the back window of the store.

Inside, the safe was opened with an electric drill and other tools taken from the shelves of the store.

The robbery was not discovered until Sunday afternoon, when one of the proprietors checked into the shop. An inventory made of missing cash showed that the burdars had made away with a fifty-dollar bill, $600 in tens, $250 in fives, $50 in ones, and $200 in silver. There was no trace of fingerprints, White said.

All evidence points to the conclusion that the theft was carefully planned, and the layout of the store well known. So far as could be determined, nothing else in the store was taken or had been disturbed. Only the fact that the week's receipts had been banked Friday prevented a greater loss. The loss was not covered by insurance, according to F. B. Willis Monday.

Chief White is making a full investigation of the case.

FROST THIS WEEK

fact that Sunday night's freezing temperatures did so little harm was a warm air current about 5 am Monday that melted most of the frost before sunrise. According to Jack Cox, meteorologist with the Federal-State Frost Warning Service at Belle Glade, temperatures in the Belle Glade area Sunday night ranged from 34 to 38 degrees; at South Bay-Bean City, they were 30 to 35 degrees; and at Clewiston-Moore Haven, 32 to 36 degrees. Towards Immokalee, one station registered 39 degrees. On the east side of the Lake, at Pahokee-Canal Point, the lowest recorded temperatures were 29 to 35 degrees, while around Port Mayaca they were near 33. There was scattered frost around the lake, and general frost in the colder sections away from the Lake. Monday night, temperatures went down again, with low temperatures of 31 to 38 degrees recorded away from the Lake, and 36 to 42 reported near the Lake. Pahokee-Canal Point area was again the coldest, with 31 degrees recorded within three miles of the lake. No frost was reported, but Mr. Cox thought it likely that some scattered light frost did occur.

thought he was yours."

There was once a Texas rancher who could look at any herd of cattle and inside of three seconds, tell how many animals were in the herd.

A stranger to the section bought several thousand acres of grazing land and filled it with cattle. Hearing about the counting rancher, the stranger took him to the top of a hill where they could look down on a large herd of cattle. "How many cattle are in that herd?" asked the stranger.

"Fifteen hundred and six," was the answer.

Somewhat surprised, the stranger said, "That's right. But took him to the other side of the hill and see if you can guess how many are there."

"I don't guess, I tell exactly how many," said the rancher, walking to the other side of the mountain. "There are more down there—let's see. They're twenty-two hundred and sixteen—no, seventeen, animals in that herd."

"Gosh!" exclaimed the stranger. "How do you do it?"

"It's easy," answered the rancher. "I count their feet and divide by four."

While on his vacation, the zoo director received the following note from his chief assistant: "Everything all right except that monkey seems to be pinning for a companion. What shall we do until you return?"

The denizens of a London pub were recently disturbed by the entrance of a man accompanied by an enormous dog. The animal flew at the oldest inhabitant who was enjoying his quiet pint and took a large lump out of the seat of his pants. It then leapt on the bar, polished off a plate of cold sausages and served cold pigs, terrifying the barmaid; dashed out to the kitchen, where it seized a week's most ration for the entire establishment; returned to the bar with them and then disappeared in a dark corner.

The owner of the dog was roundly abused from all sides; and confessed that he did find the animal a little difficult to control.

"Then get him out of my house!" roared the bar keeper. Despite every effort by the creature's owner, it stayed under the table, emitting the most frightening noises. The frightened land had a bright idea. "Turning to one of the 'regulars' he said, "Go and get that damn great bull-mastiff of yours, George. He'll shift the brute."

"So the said bull-mastiff was duly led in. It took a sniff and one look under the table and, squawking, with its tail belled, leaping, with its legs.

"A public menace, that's what it is," yelled the barmaid. "And what's more, I've never seen such an awful looking creature—let's see, it's a bit like the animal's isn't he?" answered the owner. "My brother who's serving overseas sent him home to me. You ought to have seen him before I cut his mane off!"

A master sergeant in North Africa was talking to his fellow Texan. "Our job here is to promote good will and friendship. We've got to be friendly and polite with the natives. If they say Africa is bigger than Texas, agree with them."

It then leapt on the bar, polished off a plate of cold sausages and served cold pigs, terrifying the barmaid; dashed out to the kitchen, where it seized a week's most ration for the entire establishment; returned to the bar with them and then disappeared in a dark corner.

The owner of the dog was roundly abused from all sides; and confessed that he did find the animal a little difficult to control.

"Then get him out of my house!" roared the bar keeper. Despite every effort by the creature's owner, it stayed under the table, emitting the most frightening noises. The frightened land had a bright idea. "Turning to one of the 'regulars' he said, "Go and get that damn great bull-mastiff of yours, George. He'll shift the brute."

"So the said bull-mastiff was duly led in. It took a sniff and one look under the table and, squawking, with its tail belled, leaping, with its legs.

"A public menace, that's what it is," yelled the barmaid. "And what's more, I've never seen such an awful looking creature—let's see, it's a bit like the animal's isn't he?" answered the owner. "My brother who's serving overseas sent him home to me. You ought to have seen him before I cut his mane off!"

A master sergeant in North Africa was talking to his fellow Texan. "Our job here is to promote good will and friendship. We've got to be friendly and polite with the natives. If they say Africa is bigger than Texas, agree with them."

All accidents are ridiculous. But a ridiculous accident like the above may bring you a $10,000 damage suit.

If your dog bites somebody or if your child causes injury to somebody — if you hit a caddy with a golf ball — you may get a big lawsuit that may almost ruin you.

But for as little as $10 a year an America Fore policy will protect you up to $10,000 and also insure medical payments up to $250 for non-family injuries even if you are not legally liable. Ask us.

MANY 1941 and 1951 NSLI SPECIAL DIVIDEND CHECKS YET UNCLAIMED.

It is now estimated that of those veterans entitled to the 1948 NSLI Special Dividend payments; 600,000 checks are still unclaimed and unclaimed checks have not been computed.

Written application was required for the 1948 dividend, but the 1951 disbursement was made automatically to all policyholders that could be located.

There has been no concerted effort to reach the 600,000 persons eligible to receive the 1951 Special Dividend, but who have never applied for it. An active campaign will get underway about February 1, 1953, may be sooner.

A recent survey on a sampling basis indicated that 15 percent of the persons due checks can be located quickly. The other 85 percent generally allowed their policies to lapse on discharge from military service and have never given the VA a later address.

The search for the 90,000 entitled to 1951 Special Dividend checks is now centered in the armed forces, after a study indicated most of those eligible apparently were back in active duty.

Any veteran of World War II who held a National Service Life Insurance policy for as long as 3 months, between 1940 and 1951, and did not receive a dividend check during that time should contact the local Veterans' Service Officer for assistance in applying for the dividend.

Registration papers on registered animals must be available at the pavilion, and must show that the exhibitor owned the animals for at least 60 days.

Application blanks must show breed and date of birth of a purchased animal. Entry blanks are available from county agents or FFA instructors. They must be returned to H. I. Spear, Assistant County Agricultural Agent, Box 326 Belle Glade, by 5 pm January 24.

All cattle must be delivered to the show pavilion not later than 8 pm Tuesday, Jan. 27, and must remain on exhibit throughout the show, until 6 pm Thursday, Jan. 29.

Health requirements of the State Livestock Sanitary Board of Florida must be complied with, and exhibitors must be responsible for the care and feeding of their animals.

All 4-H and FFA animals will be judged, and awards made according to the modified Danish system. Adult entries will be judged according to standard procedures. Cash awards will be paid for ribbons won by 4-H and FFA members. Ribbons only will be given to adult exhibitors.

Beef cattle judging contests will be held at the show for 4-H and FFA boys and girls, with each county limited to one judging team of four 4-H members; and each FFA chapter limited to one team of four. Teams may be all boys, all girls, or mixed. Officials will be based on the ratings of the highest three members of the team.

There will be a beef judging contest, and a showmanship contest. Mr. Spear said, in the judging team of four 4-H members, each contestant will bring his own calf in the ring, and will be judged on the basis of his ability to show the animal.

Prizes in both contests range from $1.00 to $10.00. Mr. Spear pointed out that team will not only compete against team, but the individual members of the team will be competing with one another.

Further details about the show are available from the county agricultural agents.

Best way to control wireworm on corn, sugar cane and sweet potatoes

aldrin

Aldrin—approved by agricultural authorities for control of certain soil pests—has established a fine record for wireworm control on sugar cane, corn and sweet potatoes.

Easy-to-use aldrin can be applied to soil in two ways:

1. Apply aldrin directly on the ground, as dust or spray, and harrow it in when planting seed.
2. Have your supplier mix aldrin with your fertilizer and apply with conventional row treatment.

Make your next crop a profitable one, free of wireworm and other destructive insects... use aldrin before planting. Your dealer will be glad to give additional information.

WASHINGTON
NEWS LETTERFrom
Belle Glade

WASHINGTON: The 82nd Congress is off to a traditional flying start and there will be a flurry of excitement until the Committee assignments are made and the Senate organized. The new Republican leadership, in taking over committees, will have to organize the professional staffs, get committee and hearing room arranged, and make other necessary preparations for the real work of Congress. It is expected to be at least a month before any real work will be done on legislation.

During the recent holidays I prepared my own legislation program which will place emphasis on three main objectives:

1. Reform of the nominating and election system of the Federal Government by Constitutional Amendment.
2. Modernizing the taxation system with greater relief as prime objective.
3. Stabilizing of political thinking in a "common sense" approach to national and international problems.

By the time you read this I will have seven measures in the Congress and hold high expectations of seeing some of these proposals enacted into law. Of course these matters mentioned will not be the limit of my activities. There are many diversified questions always arising in which I will be interested and will offer amendments, debate and vote on.

Most of you by this time are familiar with my proposals to:

1. abolish the electoral college system of electing the President and Vice President, and to establish a system under which the electoral votes would be divided among the candidates up on the basis of the percentage of popular votes received by each.

2. provide for selection of the candidates of the major political parties for President and Vice President in general primaries.
3. provide for the holding of special elections to fill vacancies in the office of President where such vacancies occur at least 90 days to off-year congressional elections.

I also have a bill which if enacted would provide three days for national elections. I have not yet introduced this bill as I'm not entirely sold on its worth, although Bill Hearst who suggested it to me makes powerful persuasive arguments for it. (For instance, if a bad storm hit Florida on election day, which falls in the "hurricane season" it might be impossible for many voters to get to the polls — or even for polling places to be opened.)

Some of the other measures which we have introduced and hope to see become law are:

- A bill to permit the deduction of ordinary medical expenses for Federal Income Tax purposes.
- A bill to permit deduction from gross income for Federal Income Tax purposes of certain expenses incurred by mothers in providing care for their children while they are at work.

These are very important measures in my opinion and I expect to give every bit of the energy and industry I have to securing their enactment.

I also expect to be active in my efforts to help form national policy on other matters. Without surrendering any progressive aspects of our democratic government, this Congress has a real mandate from the people to establish a solid and common sense governmental philosophy in the United States.

We need to concentrate our efforts upon improving the good things that we have now, and using our talents and energies to meeting our present problems, rather than looking far over the horizons and engaging in visionary experiments.

The citizens of our state and nation are looking to the Congress, and the new national administration, to make government operate more smoothly, more efficiently, and with less cost in taxes.

AMATEUR TALENT

M. Liuba, Stagecrafters' Director, of the Palm Beach Playhouse, has invited to meet on the season's first big Spotlight Hour for the Palm Beach area to be presented in the Civic Auditorium at Lake Worth, January 22.

Miss Marian Najarian, music teacher at Belle Glade schools, is the featured soloist in the season's first big Spotlight Hour for the Palm Beach area to be presented in the Civic Auditorium at Lake Worth, January 22. Miss Najarian is a pianist and has classes both in Belle Glade and Pahokee, are assisting Dr. Liuba with arrangements for the talent. Anyone who can sing or dance, play a musical instrument, or give humorous readings, or who has any other kind of talent that can be worked into a variety show, is invited to contact either Miss Najarian or Mrs. Chester. Dr. Liuba will be in Belle Glade for a luncheon to be held in the Tropical Room of the Palm Beach Biltmore for the entire subscription committee who will be active in the drive.

In the meantime, Miss Nancy Edwards of New York City, has arrived in Palm Beach to take charge of the Playhouse box-office and to assist in the subscription renewal project. Any subscription inquiries may be addressed to the Palm Beach Playhouse, Coconut Row, Palm Beach, or telephone 3-4484.

BUMPER CROP OF BABIES BORN

If the star's wings are bent like those of a tired seagull, it may be because Florida's residents are producing babies at the record rate of more than 500,000 pounds per year.

The Florida State Board of Health ran across this interesting bit of information while tabulating the average weight of babies born during 1951, and how many were underweight, average or overweight, for the importance to the medical profession and public health workers, says State Health Officer Wilson T. Soper.

Here is what they found: The average weight of all babies was nearly 7 pounds, 6 ounces. There was no significant racial difference; white babies average 7 pounds 5.8 ounces, non-white babies, 6 pounds, 5.2 ounces.

Of more than 70,000 babies born in 1951, eight percent were considered underweight; 82 percent were considered in the normal weight range of from 5 pounds, 9 ounces to 8 pounds, 13 ounces; and ten percent were considered overweight as they registered 8 pounds, 14 ounces or more. In the overweight group were 210 who could qualify for the "heavyweight" class, weighing in at 11 pounds, one ounce or more. By contrast, in the "lightweight" class, were 868 babies, scaling less than 5 pounds, four ounces.

There were three sets of twins, all colored, born during the year, while 697 sets of triplets saw the light of day, or about one set of twins, for every 100 births.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Key

In a nationwide radio and television program, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr. warned the nation that unless concerted action is taken now in an all-out effort to modernize the nation's highway system, the traffic problem will be so acute we will suffer tremendous losses through a complete breakdown of our transportation system. Already the system is approaching bankruptcy.

Deploring the increased loss of life in accidents on antiquated, unsafe highways, which reached a total of 37,500 last year, Mr. Firestone pointed out that if the present rate of increase in highway deaths continues, 2,000,000 persons would die in traffic accidents during the next 50 years, a situation appalling to contemplate.

The material cost of such accidents last year was three and a half billion dollars, an amount greater than was spent on any highway construction during the same period.

Comparatively little has been done, he points out, to expand our highways to meet the steady growth of traffic, and the situation is growing worse instead of better. There are 52,000,000 motor vehicles registered today and by 1960 ten million more will be added to that figure.

PLAYHOUSE SUBSCRIBERS
NOW BEING SOLICITED

Subscription renewal bills were mailed out the beginning of this week to all of last season's Palm Beach Playhouse subscribers, as the first step in getting the new season underway. The Palm Beach Playhouse opens for the 1953 season on Monday, February 2, and all of last year's subscribers have until January 15 to renew their subscription seats before the subscription books for the new season of nine plays is opened to the general treasuring public.

Mrs. Mesmore Kendall, of Indian Road, Palm Beach, is general chairman of the subscription committee for the approaching season at the Palm Beach Playhouse, and will have as her aides in the forthcoming campaign for new subscribers, chairmen who will be active in Lake Worth, West Palm Beach, Lake Worth, Palm Beach, Shores, Delray, Riviera Beach, Boynton, Belle Glade, Pahokee, Hobe Sound and other communities with traveling distance of the theatre.

This subscription campaign will be launched January 15 at a luncheon to be held in the Tropical Room of the Palm Beach Biltmore for the entire subscription committee who will be active in the drive.

In the meantime, Miss Nancy Edwards of New York City, has arrived in Palm Beach to take charge of the Playhouse box-office and to assist in the subscription renewal project. Any subscription inquiries may be addressed to the Palm Beach Playhouse, Coconut Row, Palm Beach, or telephone 3-4484.

Under such an arrangement, at the outset, one member would be appointed for two years, another for three, another for four, another for five and another for six. As those initial terms expire, all subsequent appointments are for six years.

Under such a plan there is less concentration of power in the individuals, greater freedom from political domination of the governor and greater continuity of the overall long range program of the state.

A new Florida State Road Board will take office this month. Thanks to the good judgment of Governor Dan McCarly we will have able and trustworthy men in this office. Their task will not be easy and funds at their command will be far below those needed to give Florida the modern road system she must have if her future as a tourist and industrial area is to be considered.

Motor travel in Florida will increase and both industry and agriculture, if it is to grow and expand, must have facilities for fast, safe motor transportation.

Our greatest need today is for a long range program designed to give this state a permanent arterial system, engineered to stand up with the least possible maintenance. This cannot be accomplished with the term of one or any single administration. According to estimates of experienced engineers and road authorities, it will take from ten to fifteen years even if we start today with a planned program.

Its accomplishment will be speeded if politics is kept out of the program, and capable competent engineers are retained on the job regardless of who is road chairman or governor.

Some states that have been most successful with their road building programs have found that continuity of program can best be achieved by appointing road board members on staggered terms so that no single governor controls the board, and holdovers members are prepared to carry out the long range program. Under such an arrangement, at the outset, one member would be appointed for two years, another for three, another for four, another for five and another for six. As those initial terms expire, all subsequent appointments are for six years.

Under such a plan there is less concentration of power in the individuals, greater freedom from political domination of the governor and greater continuity of the overall long range program of the state.

This article is not written as reflection on any administration or any board. Florida has been most fortunate in the calibre of men who have served in the past, and the incoming administration should be free from any political influence and concerned only with giving the taxpayer the best roads possible at reasonable cost.

The problem today is a serious one and demands the most careful study and consideration. The 1953 legislature can take action to provide for Florida's road building future by setting up safeguards that will insure continuity of program and purpose, not only for the present administration but for those to follow.

REBEKAHS DEFER
INSTALLATION

Owing to the recent death of Mrs. John (Frances Collins) Murray, an officer of Belle Rebeah Lodge 21, the installation of officers which was scheduled for last Tuesday night at Benevolent Hall was postponed.

A resolution of respect for Mrs. Murray was read by Miss Kathleen Rogers at the meeting Tuesday, and it was announced that copies would be sent to Mrs. Murray's husband, and to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Collins.

Mrs. Annie Clayton presided over the business meeting, following which there was a social hour, with Mrs. Thelma Davidson and Mrs. Clayton as hosts-esses.

EVANGELISM STRESSED
AT WEDNESDAY SERVICES

"How to Win People for Christ and His Church" is the general theme of the Wednesday evening services for the next several weeks at the Community Methodist Church. The Rev. E. L. Holladay has chosen this topic for his weekly address in order better to prepare the members for evangelism, including the New Life Meeting with Dr. Allen Moore scheduled for Feb. 14 and the United Evangelistic Mission Meeting set for May 17-24. The latter meetings will have a speaker a minister from either the South or North Georgia Conference. All members are urged to attend these Wednesday night services.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Key

In a nationwide radio and television program, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr. warned the nation that unless concerted action is taken now in an all-out effort to modernize the nation's highway system, the traffic problem will be so acute we will suffer tremendous losses through a complete breakdown of our transportation system. Already the system is approaching bankruptcy.

Deploring the increased loss of life in accidents on antiquated, unsafe highways, which reached a total of 37,500 last year, Mr. Firestone pointed out that if the present rate of increase in highway deaths continues, 2,000,000 persons would die in traffic accidents during the next 50 years, a situation appalling to contemplate.

The material cost of such accidents last year was three and a half billion dollars, an amount greater than was spent on any highway construction during the same period.

Comparatively little has been done, he points out, to expand our highways to meet the steady growth of traffic, and the situation is growing worse instead of better. There are 52,000,000 motor vehicles registered today and by 1960 ten million more will be added to that figure.

Increased Performance in New Chevrolets

The low, sweeping lines of the 1953 Chevrolets are exemplified by this four-door sedan in the "Two-Ten" series, which this year offers increased performance, comfort and convenience in addition to a complete re-design. Apparent in this view are the enlarged front and rear vision, new fender and hood contours and a fresh grille treatment that enhance the rugged beauty of the cars. Four-door sedans are also available in the "One-Fifty" and the new Bel Air series.

NEW MODEL IS NOW ON DISPLAY GLADES CHEV. CO.

Expanded to include a third series of cars and boasting more significant advances than ever incorporated in a model in the low-price field, the widely discussed new Chevrolets make their first public appearance at Glades Chevrolet Co. showrooms today, (January 9).

For the 1953 market bodies have been completely re-designed. All cars have increased power, with special emphasis on a new power train this includes a new engine and improved automatic transmission. In performance, in economy, in driving and riding qualities, exterior and interior appointments, the latest Chevrolet models contribute importantly to automotive progress.

Features of the new cars range throughout the bodies and chassis. Of major interest: 1. The entirely new series, to be known as the Bel Air and credited with being the most luxurious models in Chevrolet history. To be produced as two- and four-door sedans, a convertible and sport coupe, the Bel Airs are included in the choice of 16 Fisher body types. Other passenger car series are designated as the "Two-Ten" and "One-Fifty."

2. A new 115-horsepower "Blue Flame" engine and a refined Powerglide automatic transmission re-engineered for greater operating economy and faster pickup. The so-called "standard" engine also moves up to 108 horsepower, a gain of 17.4 percent over 1952.

A Salute to Junior Gardeners!

Dish Gardening

Dish Gardening — is a combination of growing plant material of varying heights artistically arranged in a dragmless container.

Containers—may be any sort, so long as they are to drainage holes. A dull, painted-colored pottery bowl is preferable, if available.

Drainage—Cover bottom 1/4 to 1/3 of container with small pebbles or rocks. Add one small piece of charcoal, if available. (Charcoal helps to keep soil sweet).

Soil Mixture—Good potting soil. Mix in one teaspoon of bonemeal, if available. Spread soil over rocks until bowl is 2/3 full.

Dry Soil Plants—Sansevieria, Peperomia, Stapelia, Kalanchoe, Bryophyllum, Aloe, Crassula, Ice Plant, Small Palm Seedling, Nephrolepis.

Small Rooted Croton Cuttings, Cactus.

Moist Soil Plants—Cyperus, Philodendron, Pothos, Dracaena, Caladium, Begonia, Maroia, Fern, Anthurium, Alcantarea, Nephrolepis.

The Planting—Have an idea how you want your dish garden to look. Materials of varying heights and colors will need stones placed around and over roots for anchorage.

Place medium growing and low growing material around the tall plants.

After plants have been arranged to your satisfaction spread all roots in soil and fill soil.

bowl with soil mixture to within 1/4 inch of top of container. Water sparingly.

Rapidly growing plants should be replaced as they grow out of proportion to the dish garden.

Watering—Depends on type plants. Soil should always be moist but never soggy.

No dish garden should need watering oftener than once every one to two weeks.

Feeding—1/8 teaspoon any commercial fertilizer in one cup of water, sprinkled on soil about once a month.

Next week look for our instructions for Junior Gardeners on Flower Arrangements.

SNAPPING TURTLE BITES OFF TOE

This week, Pete Kirchman, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kirchman, has only four toes on his right foot.

When anybody asks him what happened to the missing toe, he truthfully replies, "It was bitten off by a snapping turtle on New Year's Day."

About noon January 1, Pete and his 11-year-old brother Terry were mowing the lawn in front of their home at 419 NW 5th Street, using a "Snapping Turtle" power mower. While Pete raked, Terry mowed, and as their mother puts it — "Pete got too close to the turtle."

Terry, or Terry came too close to Pete; but anyway, the mower sliced off Pete's little toe, right through the shoe.

Mrs. Kirchman rushed Pete to Belle Glade Memorial Hospital, where they waited for a doctor. While they waited, a nurse, Mrs. Carole Christman, was very kind to Pete, his mother said.

Dr. E. C. Johnson of Pahokee was the surgeon who repaired the damage, putting manner stitches in Pete's foot.

The boy stayed in hospital until Saturday night, when his parents brought him home.

TALLAHASSEE—YESTERDAY AND TODAY

By Jack Sutor

Everything was ready. The bunting was up. The last plank on the reviewing stand was laid. Everybody was invited and more than a score of bands stood poised to greet Dan McCarty, the new governor of Florida, Tuesday morning. Thousands poured into town for the event. Things went off according to schedule. Governor Warren delivered his farewell accounting to the people. Chief Justice L. Sebring administered the oath. Dan McCarty became governor of Florida, and thousands of citizens looked forward with confidence to a safe and sound administration during the next four years.

It is quite commonplace to call the inauguration of a governor an historic event, but that is what it is, and it is especially interesting to turn back more than a century to see what happened at the first inauguration after Florida became a state in 1845.

The bill admitting Florida to the Union was signed by President John Tyler on March 3, 1845, and the gubernatorial election was held on May 26 with William D. Moseley, a Democrat and Jefferson County planter, being elected. He was inaugurated at noon, as is the custom today, on June 24 at the capitol.

Dr. D. E. Dovel quotes a real-estate account of the first inauguration in his new history of Florida.

At noon on the 24th a procession of state officials, Leon and Gadsden county militia, the Grand Lodge of Florida, distinguished guests, school children, and citizens marched from the courthouse to the eastern portico of the capitol where the ceremonies took place.

Says the old account: "The ceremonies began with the band's playing 'Hail Columbia.'"

The Reverend Jesse Cow then offered a prayer. The Speaker of the House of Representatives then delivered to William D. Moseley the credentials of his election... whereupon the chief marshal of the day proclaimed the election of Governor Moseley.

The new executive was presented with the constitution of the State of Florida by the Committee of the Constitutional Convention. Governor Moseley gave his inaugural address. The new Florida star was raised, and the state flag also went up.

The old account concludes: "As the emblems were unfurled the Leon Artillery fired a twenty-eight gun salute and the band played 'Yankee Doodle!'"

Then as now, the times were stirring and patriotic.

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

By Melvin T. Dixon

State Service Officer

COMBAT VETERAN MAY GET INCOME TAX REFUND.

The Revenue Act of 1950 (Public Law 908), as amended in 1951, provides that enlisted men may exclude from federal gross income tax all active service pay, and officers may exclude up to $200 of their pay, for any month they served in a combat zone after June 24, 1950.

Also excluded is income received while a serviceman was hospitalized as the result of wounds, disease or injury incurred while serving in the combat zone... the withholding statement form W-2 issued to each man in service by armed forces disbursing officers should not include combat zone pay... frequently, the disbursing officer makes this notation on the form. Form W-2 serves as, or is filed with, the annual income tax return.

If no such statement of exclusion is noted on the W-2 form or if it is believed that combat pay is included in the form, a serviceman or ex-serviceman should claim a refund by filing an amended tax statement. It should be filed in the same office of the Collector of Internal Revenue where his original statement was filed; it should include a certificate from the personnel or disbursing officer indicating the period spent in combat zone or hospital.

Members of the armed forces in the U. S. or its possessions are required to file income tax statements on March 15th of each year in the same manner as the general public. A 90-day extension of time may be granted without penalty to servicemen who are stationed outside the U. S., Alaska and Hawaii, provided they apply for a deferment under Section 513 of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act.

Women used to dress to kill; now they just dress to torment."
